About the Journal

The Journal was founded in the second half of the 1980s believing that the closely integrating world economy needs to be managed in a more efficient and desirable way so that poverty and crisis would become almost forgotten words in the near future. Such undertaking requires us to be ready with a deep understanding of the financial, real, and institutional aspects of economic integration that the Journal has pursued.

This journal was supported by the National Research Foundation of Korea Grant funded by the Korean Government(MOE).
